TECHNICAL INFORMATION

Kitchen Box is a transforming mini-kitchen that can be integrated into the Living & Young System for dynamic and multi-functional rooms.

The foldaway kitchenette in the Basic and Plus versions, with melamine and lacquered finishes, consists of a linear, modular kitchen unit connected to a fully-equipped revolving door that opens like a book and serves as a closure system for hiding the kitchen when necessary.

The equipped, revolving door, which can open right or left, is organised as a pantry with an integrated flap table, which, when opened, is aligned with the worktop in the kitchen unit, thus doubling the space that can be used as a work surface.

The integrated table top can be opened and used even when the equipped door is closed. Both versions are made with water-repellent materials, while the worktop and table top are made of fingerprint-resistant and scratch-resistant Fenix. Both versions are equipped with appliances and accessories and are produced with fixed standard configurations as specified in the price list.

The kitchen is designed to accommodate a device that deactivates the hob and oven when the door is closed. When the door is opened, the power supply is reactivated.
